

CLEAN & CARE IPE WOOD DECK TILES

Ipe decks should be regularly kept clean of dirt and debris. Sweep leaves off the deck, don't let rusting items sit on the wood, and hose off mud or spills. You can use a hose to safely clean off your deck but be careful when using a power washer.

Ipe wood does not require a sealer coat as its natural density prevents water absorption. Deck treatments may be desired, we recommend using Penofin Oil (www.penofin.com) if you wish to maintain the rich deep color of the wood.

If Ipe deck tiles are not oiled, you may experience, in rare instances, what appears as water stains on the butt ends of the slats after heavy rain. This is caused by end sealing wax, which is applied to the butt ends of the slats by the Wood Mill Company, to prevent the wood from checking (wood cracks). This condition is temporary and will eventually fade away as the wood ages to a silver patina.
